MDOT overpass update: Mt. Morris Road over I-75 open to traffic

Flint, Michigan. ---

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) reports that the Mt. Morris Road Bridge over I-75 was opened on Friday 8/12/11 in the afternoon. The detour signs are in the process of being removed.

MDOT will have to close this bridge one more time. Not too long ago, this bridge encountered another "High load Hit". The north "fascia" beam on SB I-75 side of this bridge took the bulk of the hit. The department designed the fix and the contractor is process of ordering the structural steel for the repair.

The bridge closure for this repair will be done at night and is planned for after the Labor Day Holiday. There will be multiple lane closures on SB I-75 as well.

Everyone will be informed as to when the night closure will happen.
