

State needs to raise money to get road dollars. If we lose federal funding, a number of projects slated to start next fiscal year will be scrapped and the local economy will take a hit. According to Manager-Director John Daly, "If we don't make that investment, then there's going to be an immediate impact on job reduction. There will be fewer jobs available, particularly In the construction industry, which has already been hard hit."

Video: <http://abclocal.go.com/wjrt/story?section=news/local&id=7483397>